J. M. Friedman, Atty,

45 Goodbar Building

Memphis, Tenn.

March 29, 1919.

Saturday. —

Precious Hubby: —

Mr. Swallow mailed the letter that I left in the dispensary, directly after I left, so honey, I guess you got the 2 at one time. Just received your big letter honey. It is a wonder and will answer it on Sunday. Am looking forward to your other one, & hope to get it this afternoon.

The weather has become terribly cold & the wind is powerful. This is certainly worse than any day we have had yet during the entire winter.

No "Spring, Gentle Spring" weather, believe me! It was so bad last night that we persuaded Elder not to go to school. It weather alright.

Honey, I don't know when I am going to start on my vacation, so do not know how to advise you to send your mail to me. Just as soon as I know definately I'll let you know. In the meanwhile send it, as usual, to the dispensary. After that, barley, send it to my mother's house as I will stay there. It is positively disgusting the way they dilly dally over that vacation. Just now they don't know if Miss Klein will be capable enough, and it is almost impossible to get any one else. Of course until someone takes my place, Mr. Ottenson will not approve the application. Hope something turns up soon, so that I can get away as near the first of April as possible.

Mom is feeling fairly well again. Expected to have been down to the clinic this afternoon but owing to the weather, it is impossible. If I am still here on Tuesday, I will try to arrange to have Mom come down, as I hardly think the weather will keep up like this very long. Mom asked for you to please send those applications of Zeiden's as quickly as possible, as Mom wants to see what can be done. Zeiden is very restless, and wants to have the thing settled. With such letter that Mamie receives from you, Zeiden patiently waits to hear about those affidavits.

and when there is nothing to tell him, his disappointment is terrible. So, honey, see to it as quickly as you can, will you?

Must say now that I think you have done wonderfully well last month. Try to save as much as you can precious. I do know how hard it is, for I realize how everything must cost you. If only we could be sure of a monthly income like that, why we would soon be on easy street. Eh? Anyway, I am sure it will all come in due, reasonable time.

How, precious is your tummy? We hope it is not bothering you, is it? I am feeling OK.

I shall close with all my love, kisses and with the assurance that I shall soon, very soon, be with my sweetheart, hubby whom I love. So much.

Everlasting
Frances.